Wavell Plan For India: Triumph For Jinnah?

40—40—20 Representation In Central Executive

REVISED EDITION OF CRIPPS' OFFER

Clever Device To Divide Congress And Bypass League

(From Our Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, June 6.

"Jinnah-Bhulabhai Desai triumph" is the first reaction to the Wavell plan published this morning. Sri Bhulabhai Desai has triumphed because British Government have accepted his formula of 40—40—20 per cent representation in the central executive, 40 per cent. each to Hindus and Mussalmans and 20 per cent to minorities, other than Mussalmans.

Under the Wavell Plan, there will be five members each representing Hindus and Mussalmans one each of the Scheduled Castes and Sikhs with the Commander-in-Chief remaining War Member. In other words, the Central Executive will be completely Indianised.

Wavell plan however is a revised edition of Cripps' offer in which Governor-General's veto, the irremovable and is of an irresponsible character of the Central Executive will continue indefinitely and under which the allocation of portfolios continued to be made by the Governor-General.

DEVICE TO DIVIDE CONGRESS

Unlike the Burma the White Paper, the Wavell Plan makes no provision for future. In fact, this principal modification of Cripps' plan which laid more emphasis on the future than on the present had made specific provisions for setting up a constitution-making machinery. The release of Congress leaders and general elections are not condition precedent but would follow the change of Government at the Centre, presumably because, British Government knows that the Congress Working Committee would not look at the Wavell Plan having rejected the Cripps' offer nor would the country ratify the Bhulabhai Scheme. The Wavell Plan is therefore characterised as a clever device to divide Congress.

In fact, Bhulabhai's authority for his formula is questioned here, he having resigned from the Congress Working Committee no longer carries any authority from that body. Furthermore, he is the leader of a party in a body which is ten years old and has no mandate to enter into an agreement or arrangements.

Persons in the know of things hold that the Congress Working Committee alone can accept or reject the plan, it having been rejected by a definite resolution the original of the plan namely, Cripps' offer.

A SAVING GRACE

The saving grace in the Wavell Plan is that the selection of the personnel of the Central Executive be made by a Selection Committee consisting of Gandhiji, Mr. Jinnah, eleven Premiers of Provinces, three leaders of parties in the Central Assembly, namely, Bhulabhai, Liaquatali Khan, Doctor Bannerji and one representative each of Scheduled Castes and Sikhs probably Doctor Ambedkar and Master Tarasingh, the eleven Premiers being Messrs. Rajagopalachariar, Kher, Hidayatullah, Khizr Hayatkhan, Pant Srikrishna Sinha, Doctor Khan Sahib, Sir Nazimuddin, Sir Saadullah, Maharaja of Parlekimedi and Pandit Shukla. It will be thus evident that the personnel of the Central Executive be not confined to the Central Legislature alone. Secondly, members of the Selection Committee must accept the plan before they accept a seat on the Committee.

It is doubted here if Gandhiji or Congress Premiers other than Mr. Rajagopalachariar would agree to sit on the Committee unless Congress leaders were unconditionally released and had time to consider the plan. In fact, Gandhiji, Pt. Pant and other Congress leaders have made it clear that the release of Congress leaders was the 'sine qua non' of acceptance of any office. Gandhiji's latest stipulation that office-acceptance be on terms of independence is likewise lacking in the Wavell Plan. Then again the Cripps' offer was primarily rejected on the issue of veto and National Government. Here the veto will remain without any Gentleman's Agreement or understanding. Moreover, mere substitution of the present members of the Central Executive by nominees of the Selection Committee would not make it a national Government.

The essence of National Government, it is pointed out lies in its responsibility to the Legislature which is lacking under the Wavell Plan. What will happen to the new Executive if Congress leaders, after their release reject the plan of General Elections and did not ratify Hindu-Muslim parity scheme is not known here.

JINNAH SCORES

From the Muslim League viewpoint, the plan is a triumph of Jinnah's statesmanship. His one condition for co-operation with Government has been that Muslim League must have parity with Hindus in any reorganisation of Central Executive. His other condition has been that reorganisation must be under the existing constitution.

The Wavell Plan concedes both these points. Then again the reconstitution of Centre must be followed by the restoration of Constitutional Governments in Sec. 93 Provinces and the application of parity formula for Congress-League Coalition in all Provinces. This would restore the League Government in the Punjab and N.W. Frontier Province. That the Hindu Mahasabha, Indian Christians, Anglo-Indians and even British Commercial community have been thrown to the four winds under the plan is evident. Scheduled castes have been given parity with one per cent minority namely, Sikhs as another important feature of the plan.

Whether Mr. Jinnah will accept separate identity for Scheduled Castes is not yet known. Then again the composition of the Central Executive be not on party but communal lines. Members of the Selection Committee be nominated by the Viceroy not because of their party affiliations but because of their representative character. This is evident from inclusion of Non-Congress Hindus and non-Leaguer Mussalmans on the Board.

Looking from this angle the plan is a move to bypass Congress and League. Others characterise the plan as Tory Election stunt as the publication of William Phillip's letters was an American election stunt last year. Or just as Cripps' Offer was a device to silence the hostile American public opinion in 1942, so also the Wavell Plan is described as a stunt to hoodwink British electorates. Whether it will wash in England, it is not known. Labour is likely to tear it to pieces. As for India success of the plan largely depends on what attitude Gandhiji takes.

"TORY ELECTION STUNT"

One significant fact however is that Sri. Bhulabhai has not met Gandhiji ever since he left Delhi last month. The plan as indicated earlier, might create division in the Congress itself. It might be the beginning of another Swaraj Party against no-changers.

Developments are expected.

"FIRST READING" PASSED

NEW DELHI, June 6 (A.P.I.): The Wavell Plan has passed what is described as the "first reading" with the departure from Delhi of some members of the Viceroy's Executive Council to-night.

It is expected that the second stage will be reached on or about June 19, when the proposed 'ad hoc' Committee to select the personnel of the new Interim Central Government is likely to meet. To this body, as already reported, are to be invited Mr. Gandhi, Mr. Jinnah, Premiers of the 11 Provinces and leaders of parties in the Central Assembly.

Before this meeting is held, the proposals will have been officially published on June 12 or 13 and leaders of the different political parties will have made known their attitude to the proposals themselves and to the invitation to take part in the work of the 'ad hoc' Committee.

It is pointed out here that the function of this Committee will be confined to the selection of the personnel of the new government and will not include examination of the merits of the proposals or choice of accepting or rejecting them.

Acceptances of the proposals would seem to be taken for granted.

Unofficial reports to-day tend to confirm the story widely published here and elsewhere that the proposals envisage an Interim Government based on the formula of equal representation for Hindus and Muslims—five members for each—and representation of other parties by three members, and that the Government is to function within the limits of the present constitution.

HITLER'S BODY FOUND AT LAST

TWENTY-FIRST ARMY GROUP, June 6, (Reuter): A badly charred body, closely resembling that of Hitler, has been discovered by Russian search parties in Berlin, according to well-founded reports current in the German capital during the first meeting of the Control Commission yesterday.

The reports stated that the element of doubt in the identification of the corpse is very small.

Died Of Poison

The corpse, blackened and charred, was one of four discovered in the ruins of an underground fortress beneath the new Reich Chancellory in Berlin, said Joseph Grigg, Combined Press correspondent who accompanied Gen. Eisenhower to the German capital.

After careful examination of the teeth and other characteristics, the Russians singled out one body which they are almost certain is Hitler's.

The Russians said they were reluctant to make an official announcement while even the slightest doubt existed, but they had little doubt this was actually Hitler's corpse.

Post-mortem revealed that Hitler almost certainly died of poison which it was previously reported by the Russians was given him by his physician.

WHERE NAZIS STILL RESIST

ZURICH, June 5 (Reuter): A report that 300 men of a Guards S S Division are still fighting against American troops in Upper Austria has reached here from Innsbruck, capital of Tyrol. The American division is stated to have taken sharp action against these troops and their Nazi leaders.

"PRIMA FACIE" CASE AGAINST GOERING

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter): There is 'prima facie' case on which Field-Marshal Goering can be tried as a war criminal.

Lord Wright, chairman of the War Crimes Commission, who announced this to-day said that the Commission had reached this finding on the evidence advanced by a national office.

He could not say if Goering's case would be heard by a national court or by an international court on the ground that he was a major war criminal.

Haw Haw's Letters To British Fascists Cause Alarm

LONDON, June 6 (U.P.I.): A Moscow Radio announcement that letters written by British Fascists to William Joyce—"Lord Haw Haw"—which have been found in Berlin have caused alarm and consternation among the British Fascists and people formerly connected with Anglo-German fellowship.

Meanwhile, Government departments here are doing their best to keep the arrival of Joyce and the woman taken prisoner with him a closely guarded secret—for reasons which no one can explain.

DEADLOCK ON VETO ISSUE CONTINUES

British Govt.'s Representations Direct To Stalin To Find Solution

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter): It is confirmed in informed quarters to-day that the British Government is making representations direct to Marshal Stalin in an attempt to find a solution to the deadlock on the Veto issue which has now arisen at the San Francisco Conference, writes Reuter's diplomatic correspondent.

For the moment, it would be premature to assume that the Veto question, which is now the central issue of the Conference, will have to be referred to the "Big Three". Although Marshal Stalin is reliably believed to have agreed to attend such a meeting in the near future, no date has yet been fixed, and it is pointed out that the San Francisco Conference cannot be kept indefinitely in session.

The small Powers, who remain fundamentally opposed to the exercise of Veto at any stage by a member of the 'Big Five', are totally unwilling to accept the Soviet view.

The danger now is that if Russia persists in her view, it seems impossible to obtain the support of the Assembly.

If the Opposition to the Russian standpoint is maintained, Russia might refuse to become a party to the world organisation. Until Marshal Stalin has reviewed the matter in the light of the latest representations, no further progress in the matter is likely.

"WIND-UP THE CONFERENCE"

SAN FRANCISCO: A proposal to wind up the United Nations Conference this month leaving the deadlock over the Veto issue for settlement by Marshal Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman, has gained ground in the great power delegations here to-day, says Reuter's special correspondent in a later dispatch.

SEAT OF PREPARATORY COMMISSION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6 (Reuter): Four of the 'Big Five' are backing London as the seat of "the Preparatory Commission"—the body which will carry out the first phase of the operations of the new League of Nations, it is learned here. Only Russian approval is now awaited.

DENMARK INVITED TO FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6 (Reuter): Denmark has been officially invited to be a member of the San Francisco Conference.

BANGALORE PRESS GALLERY WALK-OUT

BANGALORE, June 6 (U.P.I.): The entire press gallery was empty this evening when the Assembly reassembled after lunch as a protest against the uncomplimentary and derogatory remarks made by one member of the Assembly on the floor of the House against all the reporters.

A statement signed by all the reporters expressing their resentment at the remarks was presented to the Secretary of the Assembly after which the Press in a body walked out in protest, and the rest of the day the press gallery was empty.

M. U. C. GOLD CUP HOCKEY

MEXICAN TEXTILE WORKERS STRIKE

MEXICO CITY, June 6 (Reuter): Demands by workers in the Mexican cotton industry of a 30 per cent salary increase have resulted in a strike affecting 22 factories and 50,000 workers.

The owners are not prepared to accede to more than a 10 per cent increase.

The strike is due to begin to-day in 40 wool factories, and during the month, other strikes in silk hosiery and other fibre industries may involve a total of 90,000 workers of the entire National Textile Industry of Mexico.

'Frisco Papers Front-Page Jinnah's Warning To France

Exclusive Reference To Islam Embarrasses Levant Delegates

From S. A. SABAVALA, "Chronicle" Special Representative
SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.

Mr. Jinnah's warning to France made front page news on all the San Francisco papers on Monday evening. The Syrian-Lebanese reaction to this seems to be that while they are grateful for all the support the raising of the voice of Islam exclusively is an embarrassment, for it must be remembered that both the countries have large Christian minorities who are as ardently patriotic as the Muslims.

El. Khouri, the Syrian Premier is himself a Christian. The voice of India must certainly be heard at this juncture, but it should have been the voice of one oppressed people going to the aid of another. Pan-Islamism by itself is useless. In spite of this Mr. Jinnah is to be congratulated as an Indian leader for coming out boldly!

SOCIALIST ULTIMATUM TO DE GAULLE

PARIS, June 6 (Reuter).—The Socialist Group in France's Provisional Parliament—the National Consultative Assembly—are threatening to resign unless Government agrees to enlarge it by including returned prisoners and deportees, some of whom are former deputies and Cabinet Ministers.

All Socialist delegates have placed their resignations ready in the hands of the Secretary-General of their Party.

UNION LABOUR ON WAR PATH

Leader Announces Decision To Coalition

CAPETOWN, June 6 (Reuter).—Reports that the small South-African Labour Party was going to split with the Government Coalition were supported by an open clash in the House of Assembly late last night when Labour front bencher D. C. Burnside declared: "I am an active opponent of the Government. This is a declaration war."

The clash developed over a difference of opinion on a bill providing for some improved benefits for miners and phythisis sufferers.

Observers infer from statements made that the Labour Party may split with the United Party over this issue.

Rumours are current that a special conference to be held soon Labour Party members may decide to leave the Coalition in order to preserve their identity and win support from electors, who do not want to vote either for Field Marshal Smuts' Party or for the Nationalists.

ALLAHABAD, June 5 (A.P.I.): "Abhudhaya" an old nationalist weekly which was founded by Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya reappeared yesterday from Allahabad. The editor of the journal is Mr Bhagirath Pande and Pandit Padmakant Malaviya, son of the late Pandit Krishna Kant Malaviya, is the managing director.

FRENCH ANGRY WITH BRITISH

While the Arab world still fumbles French anger against Britain is kept at fever pitch here. The conference headquarters of the French Information Service has this to say: "Not only did British policy serve the purpose of allowing Arab agitation to vent itself at one spot, but it also enabled the British Government to make one forget the previleges it enjoys in Cairo Jerusalem, Bagdad and other places—privileges which required it to maintain 600,000 soldiers in this part of the world and to set itself up as the champion of Arab independence. Whatever truth there may or may not be in these charges, let us not forget that the only champions of Arab independence are the Arabs themselves."

Royist Creates Stir

An example of this not so subtle British attempt at disintegrating the solidarity of the oppressed peoples is the sudden arrival of Mr. Tyeb Ali Shaikh from New Delhi. This Royist, who ostensibly represents the "Vanguard" at UNCIO, laid great emphasis on the ill-treatment he received at the hands of the authorities during his journey here and on the amount of money he was made to spend out of his own pocket. He took great pains in trying to persuade me to send a despatch to this effect. Then yesterday in a manifesto to the peoples of the world this arch-Quisling brings forth a virulent and utterly farcical repetition of the Tottenham-Maxwell charges against the Congress. He now claims himself to be a representative of the Radical Democratic Party and even threatens to hold a Press conference at which he wants us to ask insured questions.

THE INVISIBLE CORRESPONDENT

There is also a second and even more minor discordant note in our struggle here and that is the representative of the "Liberator", a Madras journal belonging to Sir Ramaswamy Mudaliar's son. This amiable gentleman is never seen, not even at Press conferences and it is reported that he does not have to bother because his despatches are all done for him by the official collaborators. Their joint efforts to date have been

LIBERATION THROUGH COLOUR

Total War has reduced everything but the unravaged countryside to a grey, shabby uniformity. That's why the first reaction in a liberated town is to hang out the flags . . . or anything with bright colours to make the dreary streets glow with new promise. Colour is the visible sign of freedom to choose one's own way of life—to be different . . .

We can build this individual taste into all our surroundings and possessions by transforming the old things and making the new bright with colour. Paint will work miracles of psychological satisfaction when full peace returns.

AMENITIES FOR . . . CIVILIANS

The best welcome we can give our fighting-man will be colour—not with a flush of flags, but in lasting paints, to make home seem the brightest place on earth. Redecoration is almost a duty which we owe to victory—both as a promise and a stimulus to building a new world

GREEN, commonest of all Nature's colours, represents her infinite variety and capacity to recreate.

YELLOW, gold's colour, is the sunlight, the first flowers of spring and the ripened grain—for hope.

WHITE, the assembly of all the colours, symbolizes purity, completion and the fulfilment of life itself.

BLACK is the absence of colour: scientifically it only occurs where no light at all is reflected.

BLUE, colour of the heavens, symbolizes freedom, knowledge and the peace which nourishes them.

RED, the colour of purifying fire, stands for anger, violence and danger — and signals of warning.

The squares show the conventional "alphabet" of colours.

PLAIN QUESTION TO GEN. DE GAULLE

Is Ruthless Bombing From Air And Machine-Gunning Of Peaceful Citizens In Syria Your Country's "Culture"?

M. Sobhi Ejel, President of the Syria Association in India, has issued the following statement to the Press:—

We Syrians in this country who have been watching with great anxiety and sorrow the terrible events recently brought about by the French Government and their criminal agents in Syria, now find it impossible to keep our mouths shut and not to make a statement in this part of the world pointing out facts proving the brutality and crimes of the French Government committed in that defenceless country.

Gen. De Gaulle unfortunately just risen to power, not through ability or popularity, but through chances arising out of World War No. II. has become the Fuehrer of France. The country, that has recently been liberated or rather snatched from the teeth of slavery and atrocity by the unflinching fight of the Allies is showing once again her civilisation in Syria and North Africa, the weapon employed being ruthlessness against defenceless nations, under the excuse that France has some interests in Syria which she wants to safeguard for the alleged advancement of her "culture." To you, Gen. De Gaulle the Fuehrer of France, we wish to put a question Is the ruthless bombing from the air and the savage machine-gunning of peaceful civilians in Syria your "Culture"? We have seen your country's so-called "Culture" and crimes in 1925-1926. Let us tell you that what you want to safeguard and protect is your imperialistic aim which no longer will be tolerated in Syria.

CHARGE AGAINST BRITISH

Gen. De Gaulle in his latest statement blames the so-called British agents for stirring up trouble in Syria. We do not know what British agents he means, and do the Syrians, who have been fighting for their freedom and right since the last war, need any body to stir them up today? Are the French judging them by their own recent deflection and need for stirring up? Do you really blame the Power that has helped to liberate your country from slavery and starvation, putting you out of the clutches of the oppressor? We know what you are really blaming the British Government for. You are blaming that Power for her intervention in stopping you and your Commander-in-Chief from causing further bloodshed and terror in Syria. Because you wanted to have a free hand and play the Nazi game, you accuse the unarmed Syrians of attacking first your posts and garrisons and you allege that about a dozen of your men were killed. You make that an excuse for the massacre of hundreds of civilian men, women and children and the causing of senseless destruction. We must say, your excuse will never relieve you from responsibility for the crimes that have been committed. We call it a crime and call you the Instigator of it. We cannot find any difference between your action in Syria and the bombing of London and Rotterdam by Germany, remembering that no hostilities existed between Syria and France. Therefore, in the name of the innocent souls that your agents have coldbloodedly murdered, in the name of the unfortunate wounded, in the name of justice and humanity, we ask that you and your agents be declared war criminals, and be tried in order to be a lesson to future offenders.

Your shelling, bombing, and machine-gunning innocent Syrians, and your other atrocities will never suppress our people from defending their cause and claiming their rights. On the contrary, it will add strength to their belief and sacrifice and their preference to die rather than to submit to your oppression.

FRANCE MUST COMPENSATE

Justice demands that French people be compelled to rebuild all that has been destroyed and to make full compensation to all sufferers. As in our view, not having suppressed Hitler in time caused untold suffering and loss to the world, it is to be hoped that the new Hitler will receive short shrift before his dictatorship gets a firmer foothold.

Syrians will never forget the noble part played by Britain in coming to their rescue at this juncture. Britain will no doubt know how to put Gen. De Gaulle and party in their places for their scandalous allegations against Britain.

Nor will Syrians ever forget the way the people and the press of India stood by them in their travail and strengthened them in their struggle against inhuman forces and the barbaric action of a Power that poses to be the champion of civilisation and culture.

OBJECTS

The Company has been formed for the purpose of carrying on business of producing raw silk and for the objects set forth in the Memorandum of Association of the Company.

SCOPE AND PROSPECTS

The Belgaum-Dharwar area where the Company is to start its operations is best suited for the sericulture industry, both climatically and commercially. The Government of Bombay, who sanctioned the establishment of a silk farm at Belgaum as a result of experiments carried out there, have come to the conclusion that the industry can be developed on a commercial basis and have decided to offer the following concessions and facilities to the Company.

1. Recommendation to the proper authorities for the inclusion of the Company in the Government of India Silk Filature Expansion Scheme.
2. Recommendation for grant of priorities in regard to the supply of materials for construction of buildings and erection of machinery and other equipment.
3. Acquisition of a suitable site for the Company's factory at the latter's expense.
4. Nomination of the Director of Industries, Bombay, on the Company's Board of Directors.
5. Permission to use river and other stream waters under Government control under certain conditions.
6. Guarantee that similar concessions will not be given to any concern in Belgaum and Dharwar districts so long as the Government are satisfied with the Company's progress.

In order to ensure the minimum production of cocoons to feed an economic filature unit of 100 basins to start with, the Government have directed their Director of Industries to proceed with the organisation of the cottage Industries Section for rearing silk worms and sanctioned a total expenditure of Rs. 1,33,220/- made up of a recurring expenditure of Rs. 48,480/- and a non-recurring expenditure of Rs. 84,740/-. Further, the Government have agreed to grant interest free Tagai loans in all of Rs. 1,50,000/- for 1,000 families out of which one third will be remitted if each family brings three acres of land under mulberry cultivation within two years of the grant of the loan.

This industry has commercially proved a great success in Mysore, Bengal, Madras and Kashmere and is now no more in an experimental stage. Mr. E. S. Ramanath who made a survey and reported on the possibilities of sericulture industry in the Bombay Province stated that the Province is quite fitted to take up the industry and capture the market as certain tracts in it are climatically ideal as any other silk producing tract in India.

It deserves particular mention that India is to-day the only raw silk producing country in the whole of the British Empire. It enjoys Tariff protection. Further, the present war has established that the silk is not only an article of civilian consumption but a very important war material.

The promoters who have a very long experience of the various branches of the silk industry feel confident that the Company will earn a decent return on its capital. Though to start with, the Company will have a unit of 100 basins, they expect that in the near future there will be many more such units. The Company will start production by the end of this year.

The men who made the Merlin Aero Engines

Since the war started thousands of Britain's automobile engineers have been seconded to produce that superb, unsurpassed aero-engine—the Merlin. A product of such high precision demands in its making the aptitude of precision craftsmen. This can well be understood, but the point we want to stress is that these men are the technicians who, eventually, will contribute their knowledge and skill to the output of those fine automobiles and robust trucks Britain intends to produce for export.

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

People still thought Nationally or Imperially. The present war was necessary to change the national sentiment into an international outlook, to create an international force to dominate national forces, to prefer world cooperation and security to national independence and isolation. It may result in establishing a common authority for mankind.

—S. V. Puntambekar.

The Bombay Chronicle

CONDITIONS FOR SETTLEMENT

The constitutional proposals that Lord Wavell has brought with him are being discussed with his Executive Council and are expected to be published some time next week. It is unnecessary to speculate till then, about their nature and the procedure that may be followed by him in discussing them with party leaders. But a few words about what should be the right procedure and about the conditions of acceptance will not be out of place. The Viceroy will and should have individual interviews with several leaders, including, of course, Gandhiji. But interviews with small representative bodies should also be arranged as they are more helpful, if sincerely and tactfully conducted to an all-round agreement. They will also economise time considerably. It is reported that one of the ideas the Viceroy has in his mind is that a small conference consisting of Gandhiji, Mr. Jinnah the eleven Premiers (past and present) of the provinces and leaders of parties in the Central Assembly will be called to a Conference to examine the proposals and give their decision on them. This is a good idea if only for the reason that such a conference has not yet taken place.

But what of consultations with the Congress leaders still in jail? The report goes that the belief—which at one time was strong—that the release of the remaining members of the Congress Working Committee is imminent is now receding. If the report is well-grounded, it is most unfortunate as it may ruin whatever chances of acceptance Lord Wavell's proposals may have. To attempt to hold a representative conference without the Congress President and other accredited leaders is verily to play Hamlet without the Prince of Denmark. If the proposals substantially concede the Congress demands, it does not matter much whether the leaders' release precedes or follows a settlement. But if, as is likely, they call for a compromise it is essential that the leaders should participate in the discussions thereon. Gandhiji has neither the authority nor the desire to agree to any compromise. Without a free discussion with all the leaders concerned, though in such discussions he often goes a long way in agreeing to an honourable compromise. To allow Gandhiji only to consult the leaders in jail will be a poor substitute for their release immediately after the announcement of the Viceroy's proposals. The British are known for their lack of imagination. If in consequence their Government fails to recognise the importance of such release, they will gain nothing, not even in prestige, but they will lose a great deal more than they have the capacity to imagine. If the British Government hopes that the Congress leaders who are free may be coerced or cajoled into accepting unsatisfactory proposals in order to secure the release of their colleagues, we must say that the Government has neither imagination nor common sense.

As regards the proposals themselves they are still the subject of mere speculation. We can only say at present that if they are worth any consideration they deserve to be considered seriously and thoroughly both by party leaders and small representative conferences. The main conditions of acceptance should be that they should be capable of benefiting the people in their present plight and to that end transfer real power to the people and that they should guarantee independence immediately or very soon after the war. It may be remembered that only the other day Gandhiji stated, in answer to a question from Mr. Hari Krishna Mehtab "The Congress offered help in 1942, provided that certain conditions were fulfilled. It is for the Congress to lay down the condition for the present acceptance of office. These must always be in terms of Independence". From this we may gather that Gandhiji will insist upon the release of leaders as a condition precedent to any agreement and that the Viceroy's proposals should be judged less by the much discussed proportion of various parties in Cabinets than by the transfer of real power to the Cabinets. We can only hope at present that the Viceroy's proposals satisfy both these conditions.

Mahadev Desai Memorial

We published yesterday some particulars about the Mahadev Desai Memorial Fund. The main features of the memorial scheme are (1) "to found and maintain a Gram Swaraj Vidyalaya for Gujarat the object of which will be to provide systematic instruction on a comprehensive basis for the full-time life-workers who are willing to settle down and serve in the villages of Gujarat for carrying on the work of Village re-organisation along the all-embracing lines indicated by Gandhiji recently while formulating the new programme of constructive work on a decentralized basis" and (2) "to publish an authoritative biography of Mahadevbhai as also literature based on his notes records and unfinished writings and to undertake the publication of literature on the ideals and social philosophy of Gandhiji based mainly on material collected by Mahadevbhai and after collecting such other material as is available elsewhere" The first part of the scheme concerns Gujarat mainly and primarily. So the Gujerat Central Committee in charge of the constructive programme has decided to appeal for funds to the extent of Rs. 10 lakhs for the first part of the scheme. The second part of the scheme is for the benefit of India as a whole and will require Rs. 15 lakhs. The total of Rs. 25 lakhs is hardly too much to commemorate the great services of Mahadevbhai who was a most devoted disciple of Gandhiji one of the best exponents of Gandhiji's ideals, and a selfless, tireless worker in the cause of the poor and down trodden. Considering that the proposed memorial scheme will not only worthily commemorate the services of Mahadevbhai but will also continue to serve the cause he lived and died for it is to be hoped that the required sum will be subscribed very soon.

Frankly Speaking

Attlee's Retort

It was not difficult for Mr. Attlee to score over Mr. Churchill when the former made his election broadcast on behalf of the Labour Party. The Tory enthusiast had, by his cheap attack, himself made Mr. Attlee's task easy. It was a dignified reply, and an effective one too. For it exposed the past of Mr. Churchill and the Conservatives of Britain. The Labour leader dealt another shrewd blow at the Premier who has reduced himself to a Tory panic-monger by reminding him that there existed "Socialist" (of the British brand) Governments in the Dominions of Australia and New Zealand. And the Australians have already reacted sharply to Mr. Churchill's diatribe. This aspect of his blunder Mr. Churchill himself must be rueing as a grievous folly.

Okinawa

It has been a costly enterprise, the invasion of Okinawa. But intensified Japanese resistance, even more determined than on Iwojima, was to be expected. Okinawa is more important. It brings the Americans, not at the door of Japan's home but almost inside it, and it does so in strength. For Okinawa will be a big base for the American Air Forces, Fleet and Land armies. The Japs have, therefore, fought hard and bitterly. But they have lost and they are already preparing their people for the next stage: the invasion of the homeland. It cannot yet be said as to when and where the next stage of Pacific operations against Japan will be launched. But the costly enterprise has paid Americans good dividends apart from the intrinsic and strategical worth of Okinawa. It has given them experience in the new suicide tactics which the Japs have resorted to. The Americans know what to expect and can thus proceed to the next phase prepared for it. It is, however, a pity that the Japs should continue the fight which can only end in their destruction. We earnestly wish that recent reports that Japanese leaders are seriously planning peace moves are correct.

Occupation Of Germany

The Big Four agreement on the occupation of Germany and the joint proclamation from Berlin constitute the formal liquidation of Hitler's Third Reich and Nazi Germany. The agreement which actually had been arrived at long ago removes a number of doubts and suspicions that had arisen lately. There had lately been speculations about the Soviet Government planning to set up a puppet German Government in its zone and facing the Allies with a fait accompli. There was also some doubt in certain quarters as to whether Greater Berlin will be placed under joint Allied administration and whether it will be made the seat of the Allied Control Council. Those speculations have now been set at rest. The enforcement of the agreement is timely and welcome also because the Control Council will as we hope, not only promote greater general understanding among the "Big Four" but will also help to introduce uniformity in the treatment of Germany and Germans.

Problem Of Treatment

The Germans have certainly been defeated and have certainly surrendered unconditionally. Equally certainly criminals deserve punishment for their brutal and inhuman crimes. But all this does not and should not mean that the entire German nation should be treated as criminal and pariah. The people of Germany should be regarded as human beings and fellow creatures who have been plunged in dire adversity. Even if it be argued that to some extent they brought it on themselves, their inevitable misfortune as the vanquished is sufficient punishment. The Russians are now tackling the problem of correct treatment in the right spirit, at any rate in a better spirit than their Allies who still persist in behaving towards the Germans as if they were a different and low species of creation and strictly untouchable. We hope the institution of the joint Allied Control Council will assist in changing Anglo-American policy for the better.

Khalsa College And Morning Classes

To begin with, I most heartily congratulate Mr. Jathar the Principal of Khalsa College, on having introduced the much-belated reform of holding classes of instruction in the mornings. Who does not feel fresh and energetic after the night's rest? Who would willingly like to work during the hot part of the day, if he can avoid it.

Mr. Jathar introduced this reform a couple of years back taking advantage of the situation created by Government requisiting a part of the college premises for military purposes. This change incidentally benefitted a class of students who could not continue their collegiate courses after passing their matriculation examination on economic grounds and had to take to employment of some kind or other for their maintenance. The idea of benefitting this class of students must have been in the mind of Mr. Jathar, or it may have occurred to him at a later stage, I have good grounds to believe.

When Mr. Jathar started the morning timings, no formal permission of the University authorities was sought for as it was not necessary. This year the college was inspected by a commission of four Senators, consisting of Sir Vithal Chandavarkar, Chairman, Mr. N. M. Shah, Mr. D. D. Karve and Mr. G. R. Paranjpe. Mr. N. M. Shah, I am informed, could not be present on the day of inspection, owing to illness. During the personal interview with the Principal the Commission appear to have shown their disapproval concerning the holding of the classes of instruction in the morning. This opinion of the members of the Commission is likely to have formed part of the body of the report submitted by the inspecting members. Students whose interests are vitally involved in a matter like this felt agitated in their minds as a change in the present morning timings is sure to cut off the careers of many a promising poor young lad.

On behalf of students who are going to be affected by the change, I would pray to Mr. Jathar to stick to his own plan of benefitting poor students by holding morning classes. No authority, however supreme has a right to dictate the timings of giving instructions particularly in educational institutions like the colleges. I concede that the duration of time may be definitely laid down. Dictation as to timings will be as absurd and silly as asking a teacher to face the east or west at the time of instruction or he does his teaching work sitting or standing.

I have no objection to allow Sir Vithal Chandavarkar and persons of his conservative school of thinking to indulge in platitudes of the serene, undefined and undefinable college atmosphere. It is a common sight that kites and vultures circle round and round in the higher regions of the atmosphere enjoying as it were the serene, pure and stimulating air of those regions. But it has to be remembered that even these denizens of the higher regions have to come down to the Mother Earth for their material needs such as food, rest, etc. Will Sir Vithal pardon me if I say that persons aristocratic by birth and environment of the type of Sir Vithal are not capable of realising the conditions of life of the class of students involved? Will it be too much if I suggest to his enlightened mind to note what foreign universities and also less conservative universities of this country are doing to facilitate the spread of higher education, particularly among the poorer classes of the society?

I hope that the University authorities will not be swayed by the tall talk of the so-called college atmosphere and cultural environment.

I once more congratuate Mr. Jathar for the beneficial reform introduced by him and hope that he would stick to his guns upto the last moment, so that other colleges and even schools affiliated to the university would accept the move as a necessary and desirable reform. I feel at this stage that the reform introduced in the Khalsa College in the matter of college timings has come to stay and will soon spread to other educational institutions.

Rewards ranging from Rs. 1,000 to Rs. 200 were paid to the C.I.D. officers effecting or aiding in the arrest of Dr. Roy. A resident of Puri received a reward of Rs. 500 for aiding the police by giving information which led to the arrest of the alleged Japanese agent.

BURMA: Our troops made further gains along the Toungoo-Mawchi Road against opposition.

Force of 150 launched a night attack against our positions at Mokshitwa, 14 miles north north-west of Pegu. After attacking twice without success from the west the enemy attacked from the east and penetrated the perimeter of our defences. Our troops drove the enemy from the perimeter and counted 35 bodies inside the wire.

In the Kalaw area British troops of a West Country Regiment met opposition from enemy medium machine-guns and mortars two miles north of Kalaw.

JAPAN I... ...ABLE?

LONDON, June ... (Reuter): The Tokyo Radio to-day quoted the Japanese newspaper "Asani Shimbun" for the report that the Japanese mainland is impregnably fortified against invasion by means of artillery positions connected by underground lines and supplied with food and ammunition.

"No matter how severely enemy warships may bombard Japan proper the underground positions will remain intact" the radio said.

"No bombing attacks will destroy those positions, though the enemy may be able to deal heavy losses to cities and factories. A new kind of underground warfare is being prepared by the Japanese, different from anything witnessed in the European continent."

LONDON, June 5 (U. P. A.): The B.B.C. announced that the Paris radio reported to-night that there are persistent Moscow rumours that Russia will be entrusted by Japan to make peace offers to the Allies.

The radio comment added that the presence of the Russian Ambassador to Tokyo in Moscow adds weight to these as yet unconfirmed rumours.

Brazil Declares War On Japan

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 6 (Reuter): The Brazilian Foreign Minister announced this afternoon that a state of war now exists between Brazil and Japan.

WHEN ALLIES WILL WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM PERSIA

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter): Mr Richard Law, new Minister for Education answering Foreign Affairs questions in the Commons today on behalf of the Foreign Secretary Mr Anthony Eden, who is indisposed, made it clear that the Tri-Partite Anglo-Soviet-Persian Treaty provided for the withdrawal of all Allied troops from Persia six months after the end of the Japanese war.

In view of Persia's request and British desire to meet their wishes as far as possible, Mr Law said, Britain was in consultation with the United States and Soviet Government in this matter, but he had not yet been informed of their views.

Mr Law assured Brigadier Fitzroy Maclean (Conservative) who had raised the subject that the British Government intended in all circumstances to safeguard imperial interests in South Persia and the Persian Gulf.

Mr Richard Stokes (Labour) does the answer mean that unless all troops are withdrawn, none will be withdrawn?

Mr Law: I think the answer means what it says. I said that the Tri-Partite Treaty provides for the withdrawal of all troops six months after the end of the Japanese war. The Persian Government has, however, made a request and we are considering that request in consultation with our Allied Governments.

'Caretaker' Govt. For Persia

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter): A general election will be held in Persia next winter. The constitution requires that a general election shall be held every two years. It is therefore likely that the new Government will be in the nature of a 'caretaker' Government, more so since it has recently proved impossible to form anything in the nature of a stable administration.

CHINESE CAPTURE BIG JAP BASE

CHUNGKING, June 6 (Reuter).—The big new Chinese success, the recapture of Mangshan east of Nanning and the clearing of the Japanese remnants from the area of Laiping on the Nanning-Liuchow road was followed by an unconfirmed report that Liuchow itself—the big Japanese base in Kwangsi Province is also back in Chinese hands, reports Graham Barrow, Reuter's special correspondent.

There is nothing to confirm this report in a press note issued here today by the Headquarters of the United States forces in China theatre. Dealing with developments over the week-end, it places Chinese troops 31 miles south-west of Liuchow which has the additional importance of being a former United States Fourteenth Air Force base.

The press note confirms that the Japanese are continuing their withdrawal to the north-east along the Nanning-Liuchow Road, but states that in the area of Ishan, 40 miles north-west of Liuchow, they are holding on to their positions.

No French Strategic Bases In Levant

Syrian President Speaks Out

BEYROUTH, June 6 (U.P.A.)—"This generation of Syrians won't tolerate seeing one Frenchman walk again through the streets of Damascus," Syrian President Shukri El Kuwaitly told the United Press of America today.

Kuwaitly admitted that diplomatic relations with France must be maintained, but these must be through a diplomatic representative like that of any other European country.

He further said "they will have no communities in our towns unless there are among them people who wish to live in constant danger and risk their lives every time they leave their houses.

"They must abandon any hope of having strategic bases in the Levant. As for their cultural institutions, I believe they will have to be closed down because not one Syrian will want to have any contact with anything French."

Kuwaitly explained that he was sentenced to death three times by the French, in 1920, 1925 and 1927. He said, "now I am ruling Syria, but I am living on borrowed time as the French suspended execution for an indefinite time.

"When the British entered the Levant in 1941, we rejoiced—but only for six hours when we saw the Free French arriving. Now, unless the world is completely mad, the Levant will be able to breathe freely at last", he concluded.

FULL-FLEDGED SUBORDINATE OF BRITISH EMBASSY

Amritlal Seth On Status Of India's Agent-General In U. S. A.

KARACHI, June 6 (A.P.I.)—Mr. Amritlal Seth, editor of "Janmabhoomi", who returned to India from San Francisco today, has issued the following statement to the press:

While in Washington, I came across a piece of information about the status of the Agent-General of India in the United States of America. We all here know pretty well about the Agent-General's office and the publicity carried on by that organisation. But at least I did not know till I contacted a definite information that the Agent-General of India is not an independent officer at all in America. He is staffed with the staff of the British Embassay in Washington, his name figures in the list of the subordinate officers of the British Embassy in Washington. He is for all purposes, formal, legal and constitutional, a full-fledged subordinate of the British Ambassador.

On the register of officers belonging to the British Embassy, his name appears as one official belonging to that Embassy. I was unwilling to believe it. Therefore, interviewed the Agent-General himself and put a straight question to him, whether that was a fact. He was not willing to reply to the question in a categorical way. But after a little more cross-examination, which I audaciously did, he collapsed and admitted that that was the case and that this was the position so accepted by the Government of India.

DR. GORE JAILED UNDER D. I. R.

POONA, June 6 (A.P.I.)—For writing a letter of a prejudicial nature against the Government and Englishmen or the governing class to his son now serving in the East Africa Command, Dr. G. S. Gore, a prominent Arya Samajist of Poona, was sentenced to six months' R.I. under the Defence of India Rules by Mr. A. A. Basit, City Magistrate of Poona, today.

According to the prosecution, the letter was likely to cause disaffection among or interfere with the discipline of the members of His Majesty's forces and public servants.

The letter was censored at the Karachi censor section and forwarded to the Bombay Provincial C.I.D. for investigations.

FIRST NEWS PICTURES OF GERMAN SURRENDER

The Indian News Parade which was the first newsreel to bring the pictures of the Invasion of Europe, the Fall of Mandalay and Rangoon to the Indian screen, has scored another scoop by bringing the first news pictures of the German surrender in Europe to India.

Newsparades' stirring surrender sequence is full of exciting material and follows the German collapse from Italy into Holland where the German armies surrendered to Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery, and thence to Rheims and finally to Berlin. Famous Allied War leaders such as Marshal Zhukov, General Montgomery, Air Chief Marshal Tedder and others figure in this film which ends with scenes of Victory Celebrations in Paris.

A special press show was held to show these pictures of the German Surrender to Bombay pressmen at the Central Studios. Tardeo, on Tuesday 5th June 1945, while the general public will be seeing these publicly at both English and Indian theatres all over India early next week.

TETE-A-TETE

WITHOUT COMMENT—

LONDON, June 5 (Reuter): Moscow radio to-day quotes "Izvestia's" special correspondent at San Francisco replying to charges that Russia was to blame for the "lack of success" of the Conference.

The "ultra-democratic procedure adopted at the Conference, which allows everybody to speak indefinitely on any subject move new amendments and argue about the most incontestable documents, serves as a means of obstruction for opponents of a strong Security Organisation" he said.

All that she intends doing is to hold whatever property became hers —never mind how—in Asia and Africa in the last war and in the centuries preceding it.

Mr. Churchill also reiterated the proposal to hold a conference between the British, the United States and French Government in London.

The irrelevant proposal to widen the personnel and the scope of the Conference has thus been dismissed with the contempt that it deserves.

Mr. Churchill is willing to take the chair in respect of the French Empire, but he has not, please remember, become the King's First Minister in order to preside over the liquidation of the British Empire in the Middle East or elsewhere. He must hold what the "laws which freely elected British Parliaments have passed" have made Britain's own in the wide world.

BYCULLA JAIL SENSATION

European Under-Trials' Attempt To Escape Foiled

BOMBAY, Wednesday.

An elaborate plan to break prison on the part of four European under-trial sailors this morning, was frustrated, when at the last moment the plot was discovered.

The men responsible for the 'coup' that failed were detained in the Byculla Jail, on charges of robbery with violence. For the last few days they are learnt to have been asking the jailor to let them out for a short time as they wanted to buy cigarettes and tea. This however was refused.

As the next alternative they are alleged to have bored a hole in the roof of the prison early this morning, one after another, they are learnt to have got out of the hole, on to the roof of the building.

When they were reconnoitring for the best angle from which to jump for liberty, they were accidentally espied by somebody who raised an alarm. The men were surrounded, and armed police were sent for, as they showed fight. The jailor of the Byculla prison is said to have been injured. Some doors are also learnt to have been smashed.

The men who were again rounded up were transferred to the Esplanade lock-up in the evening.

Burma War May Be Prolonged Beyond Expectation

British Soldiers Have Still To Build Up Reinforcements To Start On Singapore

LONDON, June 5. (Reuter): The Burma war might take longer than was thought was expressed in London to-day by Brigadier J. G. Smyth, V.C., who took part in the early Burma fighting.

ADDRESSING HACKNEY ROTARIANS, BRIGADIER SMYTH STATED THAT IT TOOK AT LEAST SIX MONTHS TO TRAIN THE BRITISH SOLDIER UP TO A STANDARD IN JUNGLE FIGHTING TO TAKE ON THE JAPANESE AND THE BURMA WAR MIGHT TAKE RATHER LONGER THAN THEY THOUGHT.

DURING THE NEXT FEW MONTHS WE WOULD BUILD UP REINFORCEMENTS AND STORES, BEFORE SETTING ABOUT THE NEXT GREAT TASK—SINGAPORE.

Brigadier Smyth told how Field Marshal Alexander "almost finished up in a Japanese prisoner of war cage".

"General Alexander", he said, "was entirely surrounded when he arrived in Rangoon. It was only by an incredible mistake on the part of the Japanese that he and the rest of the Burma army ever got away. The Japanese had been ordered to take Rangoon from the west and although they had blocked the roads to the north, the only roads out, and had got Field Marshal Alexander 'the bag' they moved blocks from the north and attacked from the west. General Alexander with a sigh of relief moved out to the north".

CHINESE THREATEN SHANGHAI

CHUNGKING, June 6: The Japanese are taking measures for the defence of Shanghai, cables Graham Barrow, Reuter's Special Correspondent.

This was reported to Barrow by a Chinese businessman who has escaped to free China.

Valuable materials have been shifted from Shanghai further north and even shipped to Japan while Japanese civilians have been evacuated, he said. Factory output has been curtailed owing to an increasing number of unwilling workers.

The land threat to Shanghai comes from the south, where Chinese troops are driving along the coast from recaptured Funingfu, 75 miles north of Foochow.

The Chinese are giving hot chase to the Japanese in full flight towards Futing, 25 miles further north.

With this victorious drive, Chinese forces have cleared a big stretch of the east coast opposite Japanese Ryukyu group of islands, one of which is the much-contested Okinawa.

With the Japanese reporting Allied naval concentration in Kyukyu waters, this coast and the two ports Foochow and Funichfu become the potential ground of any Allied landing.

Basing his comments on reports of further Chinese success in southern provinces, the Chinese Minister of Information, Wang Shih Chieh said that the Japanese continental corridor stretching the length of Asia from Korea to Singapore has been virtually disrupted.

BRITISH SUFFERS 100 CASUALTIES.

LONDON, June 6. (Reuter): The British Pacific fleet sustained over a hundred casualties in the recent task force operations in the Sakishimas area, according to a Reuter cable from Guam.

HALF OF NAHA AIRFIELD CAPTURED

Allied Planes Continue Pounding Of Targets From Shanghai To Indo-China

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter): No official statement on the cessation of organised resistance on Okinawa—one of Pacific war's most bitter campaigns—has yet been made, but today's silence follows on yesterday's announcement of the capture of half of the vital Naha airfield after an amphibious landing and earlier success in isolating the strategically important Chinen Peninsula.

Allied planes have again been out in attacks ranging along the China coast all the way from Shanghai to Indo-China, cables James Henry, Reuter's special correspondent with General MacArthur.

On northern Luzon, MacArthur's troops in a fresh six-mile advance down upper Gagayan valley have reached Aritao, ten miles north of Santa Fe and are now reaching more open terrain as the valley broadens.

On Mindanao, a five-mile advance has been made north-west of Mintal with the support of dive-bombers.

The British Pacific Fleet sustained over a hundred casualties in the recent task force operations in Sakishimas area, said a Reuter cable from Guam today.

The exact figure is 94,491,205 tons.

GUAM, June 6 (Reuter): Admiral Nimitz announced today that 94,405 tons of Japanese shipping have been sunk and 91,205 tons damaged by the fleet airwing one since the beginning of operations in Okinawa area.

Moscow Unwilling To Offend Japan

NEW YORK, June 6 (Reuter): The United States Combined Press Representative, Joseph Grigg, reported that before the signing of the Berlin agreement "a hitch occurred when the Russians sent a Soviet Foreign Office official to Gen. Eisenhower's villa to say that Russia desired to make last minute changes in the wording of Article 10 to avoid offending Japan.

This article read: 'Forces nationals, ships, aircraft, military equipment and property in Germany or in German control or service or at German disposal of any other country at war with any of the Allies will be subject to provision of this declaration and of any proclamations, orders ordinances or instructions issued thereunder.'

The Russians wished to eliminate the word 'nationals' from this article.

The effect of this change would be that Japanese citizens caught in the Russian zone of Germany would nor have to be handed over to the Western Allies.

After a series of telephone calls back and forth between the villa and Marshal Zhukov's headquarters it was decided to go ahead with the signing of the document, leaving Russian reservation to be thrashed out between the respective Governments later.

MUDIE-CONRAN SMITH COMBINE IN ACTION

MADRAS, June 5. (A.P.I.): Mr. T. T. Krishnamachari, M.L.A., (Central) in a statement regarding the Government policy in the matter of recruitment for the All-India services says:—

The news emanating from the Home Department of the Government of India that it has been decided to recruit for the All-India services from War service candidates for such vacancies that have been kept unfilled during the war; on the basis of fifty fifty (50/50) between Indians and those of non-Asiatic domicile, is apparently the result of the Mudie-Conran Smith mission to the U. K. Sometime in December last Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru struck a note of warning against any possible action by the Secretary of State for India in this direction and pointed out that it was inconsistent with the future status of this country that Britons one and all have been proclaiming is assured for her.

This was also the subject matter of questions in the Central Assembly in February last all of which were turned down by Sir Francis Mudie's facile answer that it was a matter vested in the Secretary of State under Section 244 of the 1935 Act and was not therefore the concern of the House. When it was pointed out the subsection 4 of the same section left the initiative for re-opening this matter also to the Governor-General he pleaded that since it was a matter left to the Governor-General in his discretion he had no information. An adjournment motion on the subject tabled on a subsequent day was disallowed on the plea that the House was not competent to discuss the matter since it was vested in the Governor General in his discretion'.

The question was revived in April last after the departure of the Mudie Conran Smith mission on the ground that since the Home Department officials were concerned in it, the House could discuss the matter. The public in this country would realise that the issue was not decided by reason of any act of default to let the authorities know the temper of the people on this matter. The fact that the Government of India evaded a discussion is proof positive that they had no intention of yielding ground on this matter. The distinction that is now sought to be made between 'War reserved' vacancies and those arising in the post-war period, is a distinction without a difference and dovetailed to it. There seems a faint suggestion that the decision was the direct result of a promise to reserve these vacancies for those who have rendered 'war service'. The legitimacy of a promise made to persons of Non-Asiatic domicile who have rendered or are in war service to reserve for them posts in the All-India services will not bear examination. While this decision might not prejudice an ultimate decision on the question which the Secretary of State is alleged to have under consideration at the moment namely, the policy to be adopted in filling the post-war vacancies the fact remains that the present action will result, unless other circumstances intervene, in a future Indian Government being saddled with the recruits made under this scheme for the next thirty years.

The statement that Sir Francis Mudie is reported to have made in a Press Conference that liberal compensation has been provided for those that want to give up service after self-government in this country has been ushered, gives rise to many interesting questions. What does he mean by liberal compensation? Would it mean that any future Government that wishes to did it itself of these men could do so by paying this liberal compensation? Whether the Secretary of State's promise itself could not be revoked by the payment of a lump sum compensation to the British Government from the Indian exchequer? The happening of all this just at a time when Lord Wavell is supposed to be discussing the transfer of power to Indian hands has undoubtedly its own moral to convey. Presumably those patriotic Indians in the Viceroy's Executive Council have approved of the decision when it was in the proposal stage or have not been put to that painful necessity by not being consulted.

pathetic and I only mention them 'en passant' not only to show up British propaganda, but so that we may remember and make a note for future reference.

GREWS SUPPORT FOR BRITISH

The "New York Post" in a powerful editorial supports the idea of a Five Power conference in the Middle East. The rival imperialisms, cancelling each other out, should set up an international trusteeship system which will encourage the development of Arab political, economic and cultural progress to the point where the Arab States would not only be ready but able to become independent. As things stand Syria and the Lebanon have not won anything. In place of French bayonets there are British bayonets. No cause was thus served by the Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Joseph Grew in supporting the British threat to France. The State Department has taken up the position of a tail to the British Foreign Office kite and left it to Russia and France to make the sensible appeal for the Five Power conference.

"P.M." Attacks Jinnah's Stand On Mid-East

NEW YORK, June 6 (U.P.A.): The liberal newspaper "P M" today editorially attacks Mohammed Ali Jinnah for his stand on the Mid East dispute and his urging that the pro-Hitler Grand Mufti of Jerusalem be released from the Allied camp in the interior of Germany.

"P M" said "What Jinnah and the Arab League want is the substitution of one imperialism, the British backed Arab League, for another—the French.....What about India's independence. Mr. Jinnah does not mention it. His silence highlights his own divisive role towards India."

The newspaper said that Jinnah, with Pakistan, is playing into the British policy of divide and rule.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6 (U. P. A.): The trusteeship question will go before the Fifty Nation Executive Committee on Friday, June 8, the United Press of America learned today.

It is emphasized that the Committee will receive either a Five-Power Agreement or the United States will advance its position and then invite other nations to present theirs.

ATTLEE DID NO TUBTHUMPING

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter): British Tory Party big guns are silent to-day says E. Fraser Wighton, Reuter's political correspondent.

Labour is jubilant over its leader's speech, which is being contrasted with Mr. Churchill's election broadcast as "the triumph of statesmanship over tubthumping."

Mr. Attlee's gift for being unspectacular, upon which he is frequently criticised by his own followers, seems for once to have enhanced his reputation.

The Liberals, shocked by the "ranting" Mr. Churchill gave their party also hail Mr. Attlee's speech as more statesmanlike, though they do not subscribe to its politics.

The Tories are unimpressed by Mr Attlee's speech, but some still have misgivings over Mr. Churchill's "Gestapo" reference and his trouncing of Liberals.

CHURCHILL'S TURN AGAINST RUSSIA

NEW YORK, June 4 (U.P.A.): The New York "Daily News", with a circulation of two million copies, to-day editorially interprets Prime Minister Winston Churchill's recent speeches and remarks as foreshadowing a British turn against Russia.

The paper says that Britain will try to drag the United States with her.

The paper warns that the United States must not war against Russia unless Russia attacks the United States but that "if we should attack Russia, we could not defeat her. Napoleon couldn't, Hitler couldn't. On the other hand, Russia could probably not defeat us."

"NEWS CHRONICLE" GOES AT CHURCHILL

LONDON, June 6 (U. P. I.): The "News Chronicle", organ of the Liberal Party, denouncing Mr. Churchill's vituperations against Labour leaders it adds: "Such words as the Prime Minister used will ring strangely in the ears of the Labour Governments of Australia and New Zealand and of those Left-wing Parties in liberated Europe now plainly moving to power whose friendship we still need."

AUSTRIAN LABOUR LEADER ON ATTLEE'S SPEECH

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter): Prof Friedrich August von Hayek, Austrian, whom the Labour Party leader, Mr. Clement Attlee, in his broadcast last night described as being "very popular now with the Conservative Party" says, "I have no connection whatever with the Conservative Party."

"I wrote the book 'Road to Serfdom' to which Mr. Attlee referred, essentially to persuade Socialists to act wisely, but I do not seem have succeeded in that."

BALDWIN'S SON ON SOCIALIST TICKET

LONDON, June 6 (U.P.I.) Viscount Corvedale, 46-year-old son of Earl Baldwin, will contest Paisley for the Socialist Party in the general elections.

Growth Of Vedanta Movement In U. S.

Fostering Goodwill & Spiritual Understanding

NEW YORK, By Mail (U.P.A.): The growth of the Vedanta movement in the United States has established a link between spiritual faiths of East and West.

In twelve major American cities, monks of the Ramakrishna Order have drawn hundreds of followers to the teachings of Hinduism and Vedanta. It is the only genuine Hindu movement in this country, yet the fact that students and followers consist almost entirely of Americans, testifies to the universality of its appeal.

The movement first took root in America when Swami Vivekananda presented his interpretation of the Hindu faith at the great Parliament of Religions, held in Chicago in connection with the World's Columbian Exposition.

Since that time, thirteen centres have been established, (There are two in New York), all under the direct spiritual guidance of monks of the Ramakrishna Order. The Hindu teachings are disseminated through public services at the centres, through lectures at educational institutions, through private instruction in spiritual disciplines, and through publication of books on Vedanta and related subjects.

Unlike the work of the Ramakrishna Order in India, there has been no effort to engage in philanthropic or social welfare work, since these fields are adequately handled by established American agencies.

In carrying forward the precepts of Sri Ramakrishna, the Swamis of the American centres make no attempt to convert followers to Hinduism, but emphasise the underlying unity and harmony of all religions. For this reason, the movement has appealed to persons of many faiths, who, dissatisfied with the dogmas of their own churches, seek a spiritual faith that will give richer meaning to their respective religious ideals.

One of the most active centres is the Ramakrishna Vivekananda Centre of New York, which is under the leadership of Swami Nikhilananda. Services are conducted each Sunday by the Swami, with attendance averaging about a hundred persons. Classes are held twice a week for the study and interpretation of Hindu scriptures. In addition the Swami is constantly visited by persons wishing private instruction in spiritual disciplines.

Swami Nikhilananda has written several books, whose wide distribution testifies to the growing interest in the Hindu faith in this country. Two thousand copies of the Swami's "The gospel of Sri Ramakrishna," have been sold since its publication in 1942. His translation of the "Bhagavad Gita", published a year ago, is now in its second edition with five thousand copies sold.

Swami Nikhilananda, ordained at Benares in 1922, came to America in 1931. After one year's work at the centre in Province, Rhode Island, he founded the Ramakrishna-Vivekananda Centre in 1933. Besides conducting the work of the Centre, the Swami gives frequent lectures in schools and universities. Reciprocally, students of religion and philosophy visit the Centre and attend the Sunday services.

The Swami, interviewed in the large and comfortable building owned by the Centre, pointed out that another important feature of his work is giving spiritual instruction through correspondence to persons who live too far away to attend the Centre.

The universal character of the Hindu faith is visually expressed in the Centre's chapel. Raphael's Madonna and child and a painting of Sarada Devi adorn the walls. The alter is inscribed with the Hindu motto, "Truth is one-Sages call it by various names." The Centre observes all major Christian Holy Days, such as Christmas, Good Friday and Easter, with the Swami preaching on their universal meaning.

In the Swami's own words, Vedanta philosophy, "as a movement of goodwill, friendship and spiritual understanding, has strengthened the bond between India and America."

THIRD REICH CEASES TO EXIST

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter.: The German Third Reich ceased to exist at 2 p. m. on Tuesday June 5.

This, says Reuter, was the effect of the document signed yesterday in Berlin by Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery, General Dwight Eisenhower, Marshal Zhukov and General de Latre de Tassigny on behalf of the four Allied Powers Britain, United States, Soviet Russia and France. They assume complete power in Germany, which is split into four occupation zones and is withdrawn to its frontiers as they existed on December 31, 1937.

Germany loses Austria and Sudetenland

The whole of its armed forces are to be disarmed and considered prisoners of war, all its ships, planes, war equipment and factories, fortifications, laboratories and experimental stations are to be surrendered.

Of the four occupation zones, United Kingdom forces will occupy the north-west, the Soviet Union the eastern, the United States the south-western and the French the western zone. Actual details of the zones have not been elaborated, he writes, and it is not clear yet whether the earlier agreement for zoning till stands.

If it does, it plans that American and British forces will immediately commence to retire from those parts which were previously allocated to Russians. This will entail the United States withdrawal from Leipzig, Halle Chemnitz, Weimar, and Magdeburg.

Complete Independence Within Commonwealth

Amery On Three-Year-Old British Offer To India

LONDON, June 6 (Reuter).—The Secretary for India Mr. Leopold Amery in a speech at the London Rotary Club today, after referring to India's war achievements, said: "It is in the setting of these facts of India's war achievements, of the strides which she has made economically and of the far greater strides that she is planning, that Indians naturally envisage their country's present political position.

"They look upon India as destined to be a great power, a great power of the Indian Ocean region. They ask themselves why China should be treated as one of the world's Big Five, and India, in many respects better organised for war or peace, should still, in some ways, be regarded as dependent.

WHEN HITCH LIES

"The answer lies not in any ingrained reluctance on the part of this country to surrender what still remains of former control. More than three years ago, we made clear that we wish India to enjoy, after the war, complete independence within the British Commonwealth or even without it, if she so decided, on condition that the main elements in India's national life should first agree upon India's future Constitutional structure.

"Whether that should be for the whole of India or provide for a divided India in which predominantly Muslim Provinces would set up a separate national existence from Hindu India, was left open.

"NOT UNREASONABLE"

"The stipulation which we have made was not in itself unreasonable, for in the absence of some sort of agreement, there would be no Government or Governments to whom the ultimate power could be transferred. On the other hand, the difficulties in the way of agreement on any Democratic Constitutional basis, are very real and deep-seated. So far, Indian statesmanship has found no direct solution to them. Nor have we, so far found any solution of the problem of transfer of power without recognised and generally acceptable successors to take over.

"WE MUST TRY AGAIN"

"If however, no complete or logical answer to the problem is possible today, there is no reason for not seeking some way out of the deadlock which Indians and British alike wish to see eased, even if it cannot be completely resolved. Clearly, we must try again."

Freedom, Like Peace Is Indivisible

LONDON, June 6 (U.P.A.)—The All-Colonial Peoples Conference issued a manifesto published by the Socialist Publication "Left," which cited Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru's contention that freedom, like peace is indivisible.

"At this historic moment when Fascist tyranny has been decisively broken, the world's people confront new and urgent problems of peace and reorganisation.....of which none presents a more exigent challenge to statesmanship than the future of the subject peoples of Asia, Africa and other colonies for whom the destruction of Nazism signifies not an end, but a beginning," the manifesto said.

De Gaulle Must Be Reminded That France Did Not Win War

Neither London Nor Washington In Mood To Compromise With Him In His Syrian Policies

(From Our Correspondent)

LONDON, June 5.

I came to know that Gen. De Gaulle intimately through those fateful months after the surrender of France. A year later, when Britain and the United States accorded him recognition, he held 'impromptu' review of his officers—European and non-European. All of them had risked their lives and Gen. De Gaulle in a grateful mood passed down the line shaking each officers hand but when he came to the Senegalese officers, turned abruptly away refusing to shake their hands. In that moment, I realised that Gen. De Gaulle lacked tact which is so essential in politics. He would never accord officers from France's metropolitan army social recognition yet. In Damascus, he sent out patrols composed of these men. It was a tactless thing to do because non-European patrols searched men and women and then robbed them. In the country where non-Europeans outnumber Europeans by 9/1. It was both a stupid and criminal thing do. Gen. De Gaulle thinks only in terms of a military commander issuing Orders never for a moment imagining they will be questioned. It is a fatal flaw in De Gaulle's makeup and may prove fatal for France unless wiser counsels prevail

ANOTHER PHASE

There is another phase in the Syrian situation which Gen. De Gaulle overlooks. Thousands of Anglo-American technicians are employed in and around Arabia installing oil refineries, pipelines etc., each employing a large number of Arabs, Iraquis or Indians. These men as a result of gaining understanding—superficial though it may be—of the technological process have rapidly developed. Their national consciousness, their contact with Anglo-Americans also the introduction of Anglo-American films, radios and other forms of education. Had a marked effect.

Gen. De Gaulle apparently does not appreciate this change in the Arabians' attitude and thinks in terms of 20/30 years ago. Furthermore, Gen. De Gaulle forgets that the American Foreign policy is no longer is operating independently of oil companies.

Pearl Harbour taught the American State Department the much needed lesson. In 1940, the United States oil companies operating in the Netherlands' East Indies sold oil to Japanese though the Axis had invaded Holland. So while Gen. De Gaulle may concentrate his criticisms on London, Washington is not entirely uninterested in his Syrian policies.

CRUDE OIL RESERVES

Crude oil reserves of Arabia amount to something like 50/55 billion barrels. France has not contributed a single Franc towards their development. Gen. De Gaulle figures that with Syria being maritime outlet for trade from the hinterland, he can dictate terms to Allies and it is a well founded belief here that what is really troubling De Gaulle is that "Big Three" have left him out from the Oil Agreement wherein it is suggested that postwar markets in Europe, Asia and Africa will be supplied for the Middle East and Russian sources while the United States and the Caribbean supply western hemisphere.

Gen. De Gaulle is insisting on France to become part of every agreement of "Big Three" whether political or economic, he thinks he holds the key position in the Middle East.

Gen. De Gaulle will need be reminded that France did not win the war. Rather, France nearly lost war for Allies. Neither London nor Washington is in a mood to compromise with Gen. De Gaulle. It is safe to assume that Gen. De Gaulle will back down but it is regrettable that the Syrian situation should ever have arisen.

Readers' attention is drawn to the advertisement of Bombay Silk Filatures, Ltd. that appears elsewhere in this issue. It is interesting to note the present market price for Charaka Silk is about Rs. 65 and that for Filature Silk about Rs. 130. Supplies for parachute manufacture were at the control price of about Rs. 32. With the cessation of war demands for this silk, the industry is bound to make very good profits. The Factory in Mysore (under the same management) made a profit equal to about 50 per cent of its capital last year, supplying most of its production to war purposes. CYCLONE PLAYS HAVOC IN GWALIOR

Mill-Chimneys Tumble Down: Damage Estimated At Several Lakhs

GWALIOR, June 3.

The recent cyclone which overswept Gwalior damaged property worth several lakhs of rupees.

Gwalior Wool Industries Ltd. and Motilal Agarwal Mills have suffered damage calculated at more than a lakh of rupees each. The chimneys of the mills tumbled down on nearby buildings housing valuable machinery and damaged the latter beyond any possibility of repair. The mills would have been forced to close down for a period of at least a month and a half, had not temporary small chimneys been set up by the mills' engineers. Besides the mills, the topmost storey of the Gwalior Race Course building also came down crashing.

The Maharaja Scindia personally visited the areas damaged by the cyclone and had all possible arrangements made for giving timely help to the sufferers.

Attlee Exposes Tory Ramp

CHURCHILL'S ELECTION BROADCAST A TRAVESTY OF TRUTH

SOCIALISM IS NOT INCOMPATIBLE WITH BRITISH IDEOLOGY

Tory Govt. Accustomed To Resort To Policy Resembling Gestapo Terror

LONDON, June 5. (Reuter)

Mr. Clement Attlee, the Labour Party leader, tonight replied to Mr. Churchill's attack on Socialism.

Broadcasting to the nation, Mr. Attlee said: The "Prime Minister spent a lot of time painting to you a lurid picture of what would happen under the Labour Government, in pursuit of what he called a continental conception.

He has forgotten that the Socialist theory was developed in Britain long before Karl Marx by Robert Owen. He has forgotten that Australia and New Zealand, whose peoples have played so great a part in the war, and the Scandinavian countries, have had socialist governments for years to the great benefit of their peoples with none of these dreadful consequences. There are no countries in the world more free and democratic.

When he talks of the danger of secret police and all the rest of it, he forgets that these things were actually experienced in this country only under the Tory Government of Lord Liverpool, in the years of repression when British people who had saved Europe from Napoleon were suffering deep distress.

He has forgotten many things including, when he talks of the danger of Labour mismanaging finance, his own disastrous record at the exchequer over the gold standard.

I shall not waste time on this theoretical stuff which is merely a second hand version of the academic views of an Austrian-Professor Friedrich August von Hayek who is very popular now with the Conservative Party.

Any system can be reduced to absurdity by this kind of theoretical reasoning, just as German professors showed theoretically that British democracy must be beaten by German dictatorship."

Declaring the Prime Minister's speech as a travesty of the policy of Labour Party, Mr. Attlee said the voice heard last night was that of Mr. Churchill, but the mind was that of Lord Beaverbrook.

MISREPRESENTATION

Stating that there had been some deliberate misrepresentation of the reason for the election, Mr. Attlee said: "I am sorry the Prime Minister, who after all owes his position as Prime Minister to the Labour Party, should have accused us of putting party before country.

His appeal to carry on for another year would have meant a Conservative majority in the House during the crucial period of reconstruction.

The calling of the general election involved a break-up of the Government, but has not in any way altered the firm resolve of the Labour Party to do its utmost to win the war against Japan."

Mr. Attlee then quoted a statement by Mr. Churchill last year in which Mr. Churchill said it would be wrong to continue this Parliament beyond the German war.

Mr. Attlee hoped there might be continued agreement among all parties on the main lines of foreign policy. The Labour Party, unlike the majority of conservatives, gave whole-hearted support to the League of Nations at Francisco to create a world organisation with armed power to deter the aggressor.

He believed it vital to world peace that close co-operation of the British Commonwealth, the United States and Russia should continue, and that with other peaceloving powers they should take measures to prevent any would be aggressor from disturbing the peace of the world.

UTILISATION OF ABUNDANCE

Mr. Attlee said he welcomed general acceptance now of the view always held by the Labour Party, though derided by their opponents, THAT THE INTERESTS OF BRITAIN AND THE WORLD DEMANDED UTILISATION OF ABUNDANCE AND NOT ARTIFICIAL CREATION OF SCARCITY.

It is in the light of these world problems that we must consider our domestic policy for our prosperity depends on the prosperity of other nations.

Dealing with the question of private enterprise Mr. Attlee declared that Conservatives seemed to hold that if every individual sought his own interest, somehow or other, the interests of all would be served.

"The Labour Party on the contrary", he added, "believes that if you want certain results you must plan to secure them.

Restrictions on the rights of the individual should be removed as soon as the necessity for them has passed away, but others were still vitally needed to protect the public from profiteers and monopolists yet strong elements in the Conservative Party clamour as their predecessor did successfully in 1918, for their abolition.

GOOD TIME FOR PROFITEERS

If controls were removed there would be a rush for all kinds of commodities. Prices would soar. Profiteers would have a good time while the general public would lose, wage and salary earners, pensioners and investors in war savings, would find that their money would purchase much less than expected.

The Labour Party was determined not to contenance inflation.

Mr. Attlee continued, "The Prime Minister made much play last night with the rights of the individual, and the danger of people being ordered about by officials. I entirely agree that people should have the greatest freedom compatible with the freedom of others.

There was a time when employers were free to work little children for 16 hours a day to employ sweated women workers on finishing trousers at a penny or half a penny a pair. There was a time when people were free to neglect sanitation, so that thousands died of preventable diseases.

For years, every attempt to remedy these crying evils was blocked by the same plea of freedom for the individual. It was in fact freedom for the rich and slavery for the poor.

No one supposes that all the industries in this country can or should be socialised forthwith, but there are certain great basic industries which from their nature are ripe for conversion into public services".

Mr Attlee instanced inland transport iron, steel and the whole business of providing fuel, power and light.

It was labour's policy to stimulate industry and especially to help the export trade, but that help would only be given on condition that industry and trade, were efficient.

6,466 Convictions Under Anti-Hoarding Act

EXTRA ECONOMIES
—FOR WAR!

DEFEAT SCARCITY BY FRUGALITY
Most things are scarce these days. There is a great strain on supplies. The poor cannot get a fair share unless you ration your consumption. It is a patriotic duty to do with as little as you can of everything.
Frugality is well worth while financially, too. A collection of small daily economies means a regular monthly saving—extra rupees to spend when Peace comes and prices fall.

Technical Reaction On Stock Exchange

BULLION MARKET FIRM ON REDUCTION IN GOLD SALES

Syndicate Buying Cotton

BOMBAY, June 6.

The Bombay Stock Exchange developed a technical reaction today after previous day's sharp improvement. All realising sales were well absorbed. Tata Steel shares found good support at decline and Indian Irons ruled very steady with a good demand. Bombay Dyeings remain manipulated while other textile shares move in sympathy. The Bullion market was firm on active buying by professional operators under the influence of reduction in Gold sales.

The Bull Syndicate bought freely and the cotton market moved up. There was some short covering.

After yesterday's sharp improvement on active buying in Steel Shares, the Bombay Stock Exchange was somewhat quiet on scattered realising based on technical considerations. The market being narrow with a restricted outside participation, it requires careful handling situation and naturally buyers were cautious to-day. The market sentiment remains moderately bullish. GOLD AND SILVER

The Reserve Bank of India sold today only 25,000 tolas Gold at Rs. 75/9 and 150 bars Silver at Rs. 132/14.

The reduction in Gold sales had bullish effect on the Bullion Market today but later quotations downturned on active unloading by professional operators.

Forward Gold opened to-day at Rs. 75/6 and advanced to Rs. 75/13 but later declined to Rs. 75/6. Ready Gold was quoted at a premium of annas ten at Rs. 76.

Silver market opened at Rs. 132 and improved Rs. 132/12 under short covering influenced by firmness in Gold but a prominent operator sold about 1,000 bars and quotation declined to Rs 131/12. Ready Silver was quoted at Rs. 132/14.

Later on there was brisk buying by professional operators on expectations of further reaction in Gold sales. The market closed firm as under:

Ready Gold	76	2	0
Gold Settlement	75	10	0
Ready Silver	133	0	0

BOMBAY COTTON

The local cotton market was expected to open at Rs. 410/8 for July delivery but unfounded Japanese rumours influenced the market which opened at Rs. 411. There was no follow through on the buying side and under scattered selling July quietened at Rs. 410/8. It appears that professionals are chiefly interested in sustaining prices around present levels up to settlement of teji-mandi operations. And in this attempt they may try to push up quotations to pass over a portion of long interest to purchasers of option rights. But it remains to be seen how the market develops in the meantime, we think it best to have no interest at present.

Under scattered selling July declined to Rs. 409/8 and rallied to Rs. 410/12 on some covering. Thereafter the market was steady at Rs. 410/8.

Later on there was active buying by the syndicate and July rose to Rs 413/12. The market finally closed at 6 p m as under:

Wall Street Firm But Expects Technical Reaction

NEW YORK, June 5.

Wall Street opened steady and moderately active. Aircrafts aided by forecast of peace time foreign and domestic demand for transports led a selective recovery. Although many leaders did not exhibit comeback tendencies. Rails improved on the brightening traffic prospects. However traders were cautious pending international developments. Advances were in the majority towards mid-day in quieter dealings. Apart from a few soft spots, the market edged forward retaining the best part of the earlier gains ranging to one point despite persistent profit-taking. There was some investment caution on the idea that a technical reaction might be overdue, but the market closed firm.

Light Activity On Worth Street

NEW YORK, June 5 (U.P.A.)—Scattered, small-sized allocations against high priority orders furnished only surface activity on the Worth Street Cloth Market today.

New York Cotton Market Awaits Legislative Developments

NEW YORK, June 5.

Cotton opened quiet. Trading was narrow but the market steady awaiting legislative and fresh developments in other directions. Prices then sagged slightly under scattered liquidation and hedges and emphasis on improved crop and weather news and consequential expectations of a favourable weekly weather report to-morrow, the market subsequently steadied on routine trade buying and price fixing against textile awards. Latterly prices ruled steady on persistent dribbling of mill buying and increased efforts to step up output of cottongoods, the session closed steady.

Plan To Give Away Low Grade Cotton

NEW YORK, June 5 (U.P.A.)—The Wall Street Journal today reported that the Lend Lease administration, through the offices of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, may give away low grade cotton to ease Europe's textile shortage.

However, opponents of this move argue that it would offend other cotton nations, the journal said.

Raw Jute And Jute Butts

WASHINGTON, June 4 (U.P.A.)—War Production Board today announced that manufacturers of jute and jute products in the United States can now apply for authorization to import Indian raw jute and jute butts for the July-September quarter shipment.

The announcement said that authorizations will be granted on the basis of the applicants average consumption in 1939, 1940 and 1941.

FIGHT BACK ANTI-SOVIET SLANDER

In his message to the 'Soviet Victory Conference' of the Bombay Friends of the Soviet Union to be held on June 22 and 23 in the C. J. Hall, Bombay, Dr. Homi Bhabha, the well-known scientist, says:

The conference of the Friends of the Soviet Union this year will take place at the beginning of a new period in history. The military power of Nazi Germany has been completely smashed by the combined effort of the Allied nations, and the Red Army has proved itself to be the most powerful land force in the world. But preparation for war as an instrument of aggrandisement, and the subjugation and exploitation of weaker nations is no part of the Soviet philosophy. On the contrary the Soviet State has lived since its birth under the constant menace of war a war which came in the end in June, 1941. The necessity of being able to defend itself against attack by any combination of hostile powers has hindered the free and natural development of the Soviet system from the beginning, and forced its peoples to sacrifice temporarily many of their peaceful aims.

SOVIET NEEDS PEACE

Through its heroic struggle from great adversity in the beginning to total victory in the end, made possible by the unmatched sacrifice, suffering and unity of the Soviet people, it has won the admiration and respect of the freedom-loving peoples in all countries. It has broken through the ring of hostility and prejudice which surrounded it. But the reactionary forces in all countries, who hate the advance of social and economic democracy, have already commenced their campaign of slander against the Soviet Union and will make every effort in future to isolate it by misinterpreting its actions and misrepresenting its motives. It is the duty of all those who are interested in peace and progress to exert their utmost to frustrate these attempts, and to strengthen the bonds of friendship between the peoples of India and of the Soviet Union. For, no country desires and needs peace for its development more than the Soviet Union, and it is in the years of peace which are to follow that the Soviet system will show what it can do for the spiritual, cultural and material development of humanity.

I wish the Conference every success in its important task.

It is proposed to amend the Rules made under the Bombay Nurses, Midwives and Health Visitors' Registration Act of 1935 to bring under their operation the Auxiliary Nursing Service of India established by the Government of India. Draft amendments will be taken into consideration on or after June 20, and objections or suggestions should be sent to the Secretary, General Department, Government of Bombay, by that date.
